SUMMARY

I am delighted to introduce myself as a seasoned Full-Stack Developer with a passion for all things tech-related. With over 2 years of experience under my belt, I have had the privilege of wearing multiple hats in the tech realm.

As a Python Developer, I've honed my skills through freelancing projects, crafting efficient and elegant solutions to real-world problems. Additionally, my role as a Python/Java Course Instructor has allowed me to share my knowledge and expertise, guiding aspiring developers on their learning journey.

But that's not all! I've also delved into the world of Web Development, bringing ideas to life through creative and functional websites. Beyond coding, I am an avid Tech Blogger, sharing insights, tutorials, and industry updates to keep the community informed and inspired.

My curiosity extends beyond traditional tech fields as well. As a Science Researcher, I explore the intersection of technology and scientific advancements, constantly seeking innovative ways to contribute to the world.

Moreover, I am a passionate Blockchain Enthusiast, fascinated by its potential to revolutionize various industries.
